

LONG SHOT: FIGHTS FOR LIFE

ESTIMATE COTTON CROP LOWER THAN THAT OF MONTH AGO

GOVERNMENT PREDICTION IS THAT CROP OF 11,489,000 BALES WILL BE GROWN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (P)—An 11,489,000-bale cotton crop this year was predicted today by the Department of Agriculture, representing a reduction of 309,000 bales from the estimate a month ago.

The department said the drop was due largely to insect damage and continued dry weather.

Most of the reduction was predicted for Texas, where the forecast was 384,000 bales less than a month ago. A decline of 39,000 bales was shown for Oklahoma, only moderate changes were indicated for other states.

Declining to comment for publication, high farm officials apparently were pleased with the indicated smaller crop.

The price dropped somewhat when the August 1 estimate exceeded most private reports by several hundred thousand bales. The Bankhead allotment for the nation this year is 10,500,000 bales. Producers must pay a ginning tax of six cents a pound on all cotton ginned in excess of the Bankhead crop-production control allotments.

The indicated crop this year is 1,853,000 bales more than the 1934 production. However, it is 3,177,000 bales less than the average production in the five year period, 1928-1932.

A month ago, a crop of 11,798,000 bales was indicated. Last year's production was 9,836,559 bales and the 1933 crop totaled 13,047,292 bales.

Ginnings Also Less.

Ginnings of this year's crop to September 1 was reported by the census bureau as 3,122,739 running bales, counting round as half bales. To that date last year ginnings were 3,402,845 and two years ago 3,396,139 bales.

The condition of the crop September 1 was 64.5 per cent of normal, compared with 73.6 a month ago, 53.8 a year ago, and 59.2, the 1924-33 average.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD SUNDAY FOR TEXAS SENATOR OF 30TH DISTRICT

AUSTIN, Sept. 9. (P)—The possibility that Mrs. Arthur P. Duggan would be a candidate to succeed her husband in the Texas senate from the South district developed today.

Arthur P. Duggan, Jr., son of the late senator, said the question probably would be discussed at a family conference soon. He said his mother had expressed no views on her possible candidacy.

Oil Baron Passes

Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate, died Sunday night in Beverly Hills, California, after a long illness. He is estimated to have left a fortune in excess of $100,000,000, and had given hundreds of thousands of dollars in philanthropies.

Doheny figured in the famous Naval Reserve oil lease during the Harding administration and was indicted but later acquitted.

MORE TROUBLE FOR LEAGUE AS HITLER TO SEEK COLONIES

ITALY ALSO REFUSES TO ASSURE LEAGUE COMMITTEE SHE WILL BEHAVE

By JOSEPH E. SHARKE (Associated Press Foreign Staff). GENEVA, Sept. 9. (P)—A German spokesman said tonight that Reichsfuehrer Hitler doubtless will raise the issue of Germany's need for colonies before the Reich officially quits the League of Nations, Oct. 14.

This announcement was made shortly after an Italian spokesman said that Italy would not assure the League committee that she will do nothing to complicate the Italo-Ethiopian situation.

Premier Mussolini repeatedly has stated that Italy needs to expand her colonies. Reichsfuehrer Hitler frequently has referred with sorrow to Germany's loss of colonial possessions under the Versailles treaty.

The Italian spokesman explained that Italy already has announced she must maintain complete liberty of action concerning Ethiopia and that, consequently, Italy does not wish to make a promise which circumstances beyond her control may make it impossible for her to keep.

This statement was made after the committee in question—the Italo-Ethiopian sub-committee—held an afternoon session at which a program of work was decided upon.

HEAVIEST RAIN FOR YEAR FELL SUNDAY NIGHT IN CORSICANA

HEAVY RAIN AT DAWSON AND KERENS; LOCAL RAIN FALL WAS 3.72 INCHES

The heaviest rain within a 24-hour period this year fell over Navarro county Sunday night. In Corsicana the rainfall was 3.72 inches according to the government gauge. Government measurements at Kerens and Dawson were 3.50 and 2.74 respectively, indicating that the lightest rain fell in the southwestern section of the county.

The rain Sunday night brought the fall in Corsicana during September to 4.89 inches and at Dawson to 4.24 inches. A report on previous rain this month at Kerens had not been available Monday morning but it will probably be about the same as here and at Dawson.

Rainfall in Corsicana for the year is 34.20, which includes a number of local showers ranging from .10 of an inch to .43 of an inch.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT ON OPENING DAY IS LOWER THAN IN 1934

HIGH SCHOOL, HOWEVER, SHOWS SLIGHT INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Nine Corsicana public schools opened the fall term of the 1935-36 year Monday morning with a total enrollment of 2,856, as compared with a total enrollment on the opening day of the 1934-35 year of 3,029, it was announced shortly after 10 o'clock by Superintendent W. H. Norwood. Two schools, the high school and David Crockett school showed figures in excess of those last year, while all the others were slightly below their last year opening day enrollments.

CORONER'S JURY STARTS PROBE IN DEATH DR. WEISS

TWO WITNESSES HEARD BEFORE RECESS TAKEN TILL MONDAY AFTERNOON

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9. (P)—The dramatic story of the attempt to assassinate Senator Huey P. Long in the $5,000,000 statehouse and the killing of his assailant, Dr. Carl A. Weiss was related today by two witnesses at a coroners' inquest.

The coroner stated that an examination of Dr. Weiss' body showed that it had 30 bullet holes in the front and 29 in the back, and two in the head.

C. E. Frampton, statistician for the state attorney general's office and a reporter for the New Orleans Item-Tribune, told how he emerged from an office after hearing a shot and saw the senator walking down the corridor, clapping his side.

He said he saw Murphy Roden, one of Long's bodyguards, and Dr. Weiss struggling. Then he told how Weiss was killed.

District Attorney John Fred Odom of the 19th judicial district court, composed of the parish of East Baton Rouge, took charge of the questioning of witnesses and sought to bring out from the coroner details concerning the actual shooting and the alleged necessity of the shooting of the assailant by bodyguards to protect the lives of themselves and others.

John D'Armond, who was near the shooting, was the second witness called. After he had given testimony the inquest was continued.

Personal possessions taken from the body of Dr. Weiss included a .32 calibre pistol bearing serial number 219-436, a pocket knife, a charged cartridge, seven pistol cartridges, some keys and a fountain pen.

At the opening of the inquest the following statement was made by "The body was examined by"

IMPORTANT TROOP MOVEMENTS ALONG ETHIOPIAN AND ERITREAN FRONTIER

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 9. (P)—An Ethiopian government communiqué today said "telegrams from the northern frontier show that the Italians are making important troop movements on the Ethiopian and Eritrean frontier, indicating an early offensive against Ethiopia."

Emperor Haile Selassie, it was learned on the highest authority today, has instructed the Ethiopian delegation at Geneva to reject outright all solutions thus far proposed by the powers for the settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

These formulas include a tripartite mandate over Ethiopia, suggested by France, with League of Nations guaranteeing Ethiopia's independence and territorial integrity.

WOUNDED BY ASSASSIN'S BULLET

United States Senator Huey P. Long, political ruler of the State of Louisiana, was shot and seriously wounded Sunday night in a corridor of the $5,000,000-skyscraper State capitol when Dr. C. A. Weiss, Jr., of New Orleans fired a bullet at close range into his abdomen. Long's condition was reported satisfactory Monday but his recovery is not yet assured. Senator Long is pictured above in a characteristic speaking pose.

STATE CANVASSING BOARD BEGAN VOTE COUNTING MONDAY

SEVERAL COUNTIES, AMONG THEM DALLAS AND TARRANT, FAILED REPORT

AUSTIN, Sept. 9. (P)—The state canvassing board began the official canvass today of returns from the special election August 24. The canvass was started despite the absence of Attorney General William McCraw, who, with Governor Alfred and Secretary of State E. B. Stanford, compose the board.

On the official tabulation and certification, five constitutional amendments which unofficial returns showed were adopted, will become effective, although enabling legislation will be necessary to put them in effect.

The amendment repealed state-wide prohibition, substituting a system of local option. The others provided a salary instead of a fee basis of remunerating certain county officers, and authorized old age pensions, temporary commitment of insane without trial by jury and suspension of sentences by judges.

Returns received from Culberson, Jim Hogg, Potter and Uvalde counties reduced the number of counties unreported to 23, but Governor Alfred said missing returns had been telegraphed for and the canvass would proceed.

Long, lost strength today in his fight to recover from an abdominal bullet wound inflicted last night in the state capitol by a son-in-law of one of Long's opponents.

Attending physicians kept their silence. A bulletin from the senator's hospital room was overdue. But over the Our Lady of the Lake Hospital general concern was felt.

Reliable reports from the hospital said the senator was passing blood. That his pulse was quickening and that a second blood transfusion was given. Callers left his hospital quarters with grave faces.

LOUISIANA HOUSE DOUBLY FOLLOWS HUEY'S PROPOSALS

ARMED GUARDS AT ALL DOORS; BROTHER ATTENDS MONDAY SESSION

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9. (P)—With armed guards standing at the doors, the Louisiana house of representatives today passed a bill sponsored by Senator Huey P. Long to remove an anti-Long voting district under the jurisdiction of Judge B. H. Pavy, father-in-law of Dr. Carl A. Weiss, who seriously wounded the senator last night, to another district that is favorable to Long.

As the first bill to be passed, it will change the 13th and 16th judicial districts to place St. Landry parish, where Judge Pavy has always evaded a large bloc of anti-Long votes, in the same district with Lafayette, Acadia and Vermilion, the latter three always being in the ranks of the senator's supporters. Evangeline remains in a district by itself.

The bill was passed by a vote of 73 to 14 as Earl Long, brother of the senator, stood chatting with friends behind the railing in the house.

Texas Drenched By Heavy Rains Past 24 Hours

(By The Associated Press.) Rains drenched most of Texas as over the week-end, providing badly needed rain in many sections.

Tyler, with a Rose Festival impending, was jubilant over the 3.72 inches of rain which fell there. East Texas rose gardens and crops in general were benefited greatly.

Hard rains in the Palestine area continued today, amounting to more than 2.5 inches. A few points reported open cotton.

SOME INTERESTING HIGHLIGHTS IN CAREER HUEY PIERCE LONG; DESERTED FARM AT AGE SIXTEEN

(By The Associated Press) Highlights in the career of Huey Pierce Long: Born August 30, 1893, on a modest farm in Winnfield, La., the seventh child in a family of nine. At 16, deserted his family's cotton farm for the road, leaving his father to become a traveling salesman of excising utensils. At 19, arrested in Shreveport, accused of being involved in a shooting scrape; cleared by an alibi of Rose McConnell, who proved he was in a theatre with her. At 20, married Miss McConnell, who bore him two sons and a daughter. In ten months of intense cramming, finished a law course at Tulane University and in 1915 was admitted to the bar, passing a special examination. Three years later elected to the Louisiana state board of railroad commissioners, the start of his political career. Almost immediately began the

"BREAKING FAITH WITH EAST TEXAS"

The Tyler Courier-Times, staunch supporter of President Roosevelt, takes exception to a recently published advertisement signed by the general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. In no uncertain terms the editorial writer for the Courier-Times states the position of his publication regarding such utterances. The editorial—"Breaking Faith With East Texas"—follows:

"Some of the finest, ablest men of this section have for many years loyally supported the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and its development programs. Every person in this section owes much to the spirit of these men. Theirs has been a labor of love and loyalty. But the best thought of this section is overwhelmingly against the vicious crusade that has been launched against the New Deal in the name of an organization that solicits funds for a purpose altogether separate from politics.

"The people who subscribe to the East Texas Chamber of Commerce do so with the idea of building up this section economically, socially and spiritually.

"There cannot possibly be any connection between a development program and a political crusade that at best could serve no purpose but to create discord and controversy.

"Under a very black heading entitled 'Now Return to America' there has been published a newspaper advertisement against the New Deal signed by Hubert Harrison, general manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"The opening paragraph is enough to insult the intelligence of any man—certainly sufficient to outrage every red-blooded citizen who looks to Franklin D. Roosevelt as the finest American who has occupied the White House since Woodrow Wilson, and as the best friend the South has had at Washington since Wilson was gathered to the soil of his fathers.

"That paragraph says: 'Confidence in business circles is gradually growing in spite of disturbing threats at Washington. Encouraged by the sweeping and conclusive supreme court decision in the NRA case, American business men have determined to go ahead. The constitution is to be upheld.'

"When the East Texas Chamber of Commerce stoops to so idiotic an utterance, it steps down out of the character of a dignified body dedicated to the cause of human service.

"It descends to the low level of vilification such as exposed in the recent senate lobby probe.

"There is not a shred of support for the broad insinuation that Roosevelt has not had the confidence of the American people at every step of his great ministry of public service.

"If the constitution of the United States is to be upheld, that duty is lodged with the President of the United States and not with an organization that holds no commission from the people whatsoever except the commission given by subscribers who thought they were investing in the economic welfare of East Texas and not in a political organization.

"There is no question that this campaign will be

Wealth is iron, steel and grain,
Forest land and fertile plain.
Food and talent, gears and springs.
All designed for making things.
These in dollars and in cents
Money merely represents;
These are riches once disclosed
On which taxes are imposed.

There are other forms of wealth
Never taxed, and one is health,

No man living's truly rich.
Love's another. High and low
Happy are if this they know;
Next the joy of life depends
On the constancy of friends.

Rich are they who earn and

For the night the boon of sleep
And possess the rare delight
Of an unspoiled appetite;
Good repute and conscience clear

PUMPING BLOOD

Bold physiological experiments continue. Dr. Carrel and Col. Lindbergh have told the world how they keep pieces of flesh alive and growing in an artificial blood solution, by means of a mechanical heart invented by Lindbergh that circulates the fluid. There have been remarkable things done in Russia and California in the way of letting dogs die and restoring them to life again. The other day a Moscow scientist named Brukhonenko publicly pumped all the blood out a dog's body, waited 10 minutes and, when all signs of life had vanished, pumped the blood back into it, along with a new supply of oxygen provided by using the extracted lungs of a second dog. The victim revived, its arteries were closed, and so was the incident.

Dr. Brukhonenko, with more professional caution than some other laboratory workers in his field, refrains from saying that he restored a "dead dog" to life. He merely says he has revived it from "incomplete death."

Man is learning to do awkwardly some of the things that Nature does easily. Science has discovered many things, but Nature's deepest secrets are still hidden. No scientist has yet created life. No one has yet shown clearly just what life is, or just what death is. No one has disproved the almost universal belief that life can survive physical death. Such experiments, however, may be of great value to the medical profession, helping in the struggle to relieve human suffering and prolong life.

BELGIUM'S QUEEN

So little Queen Astrid of the Belgians goes the way of all flesh!

In her few years as the wife of Prince and later King Leopold, Astrid of Sweden had won, by her charm and gentleness, the love of her adopted country. She had given two sons to assure the succession. The world extends its heartfelt sympathy to Belgium in its great grief.

The Chinese symbol of contention is said to be two women under one roof. Judging from a police court case in Yakima, Wash., the American symbol might be one bathroom in a duplex house.

They say the Constitution's "on probation." We'll scrap about it, but won't scrap it.

thoroughly repudiated by the splendid men of East Texas who have so loyally supported this movement in the past with the patriotic thought that they were helping advance this section along constructive lines.

"There is not an abler, more public-spirited man in this section than the president of the group, Pat Mayse, and no friend of his would believe for a minute that he would countenance any such crusade of calumny.

"When any organization of this character sticks its nose into politics, it instantly loses its usefulness.

"When it launches an attack upon the commander-in-chief of the American people, it arrives upon a career that smacks of treason.

"Somebody has broken faith with East Texas."

WAR AND OIL

It wasn't really the barons and the people, as the story is told, who won Magna Charta from King John. It was the men who controlled the underground river of gold. Without their help no king could function.

The situation in Ethiopia on Saturday was a little different, but economic determinism was functioning there similarly, though less subtly. Italy is seeking colonial expansion that her crowded nationals may live satisfactorily. Great Britain, for economic reasons, does not want her own colonial powers interfered with. The United States does not want war because she is just beginning to recover from a major depression due largely to the depletion of resources by the last war.

Mussolini was blustering, preparing to advance, but hoping, it seemed to many observers, that he might get the desired territory without war. For economic determinism was getting him in his military preparations, too. Nations and individuals were stopping credit, holding up goods without cash in hand.

Then in walked the big oil interests, getting franchises and deeds to territory right from under Mussolini's nose. For the moment Il Duce was completely blocked, but determined upon proceeding with his preparations. Talk of taking a bone from the jaws of a hungry dog!

No government has any moral right to intervene to protect the property rights of its nationals in foreign countries. Men of business should take their chances in accordance with the laws and situations of the country where they seek to make profits. But legal rights have been established, and there is plenty of precedent. Our history shows marines here, there and everywhere to protect somebody's sugar plantation, warships showing power to protect oil.

So Italy's state department was not the only one beating its brains for the right answer, the safe next step, on that historic Saturday morning. What responsibilities had Great Britain now that all the desirable territory had been ceded to British and American interests? How neutral could be American neutrality?

Much to the relief of all concerned these questions can now be satisfactorily answered, for the present at least, with the oil interests involved relinquishing their claims on the concession

TALK ABOUT WAR

There is going to be a great deal of conversation about military matters. Maps of Ethiopia are in demand. Statistics about tonnage of fleets. Discussions of mistakes made in the last war and how they can be avoided now. Comparisons between the conventions binding the conduct of the Suez Canal and the Panama. Warriors from Italian Somaliland deserting to enlist with their own people in Ethiopia. Munitions. Ships. Neutralities. Embargoes. Sieges. Provisions. Oil.

The American should remember that this is all conversation, nothing more. The interviews with noted Britishers saying they hope the United States will stand with them—what else could they say?—are conversation. Out of all the welter of news and pictures and headlines very little information which is important or official yet appears.

Americans are very tired of talk about depression. They are glad to see better business but they weary of talk about that, too. The prospect of war offers an entrancing new interest, especially when it has such picturesque features as Abyssinia offers. Newspapers, magazines, movies sense this demand for more and more detail about the present situation and try to meet it as best they can. The job of any newspaper is to meet the instinctive human cry for knowledge about what's going on.

But there is a sharp distinction to be drawn by every thinking citizen between conversation about war and war itself. So far, the idea of war is merely graphic. Actual war is hell. It's not only horrible death by being torn to pieces. It's rotting food and lice and filth and wounds which never heal.

Let Uncle Sam stick to his own work and build up his own country. It needs it and the world needs to have it built up. None of this tearing down stuff for your Uncle. He's had enough.

The apple growers aren't licked yet, in spite of marketing troubles. At their 40th annual convention their slogan was, "Life begins at 40."

"Will's Gags Made Coolidge Smart," says a headline, meaning "sore." They made a lot of folks feel smart, repeating 'em.

granted. The seriousness of a complicated situation has been greatly eased by the latest developments.

'INVESTIGATE FIRST'

A warning to John Citizen to guard against petty racketeers with wild promotion schemes and colorful sales stories on "bar-gain" merchandise is sounded by Alvin E. Gillett, Association of Commerce secretary of Madison, Wisconsin.

Human gullibility for old-time "rackets" with new frills, he says in the Rotarian Magazine, is taking untold millions every year from an innocent public—money that should go into the tills of local merchants. According to the National Better Business Bureau, there is an annual loss from such operations of eight dollars for every man, woman and child in the United States.

"Business men, for example, are solicited by mail to buy raincoats, suitcases, or similar articles. The bait is an unusual price if the prospect will give a letter of recommendation. He may get a first rate article himself. But all his friends get copies of his recommendation—and if they fall for the stunt, they sometimes get the worst kind of shoddy.

"There is also the 'smuggled goods' racket," he continues. "It usually runs to 'oriental' rugs, 'imported' lace, 'fur' coats, and so on. The salesman may be a 'sailor,' or somebody supposedly just back from abroad. The goods—whisper it—came in duty free. That's the yarn. Often they are the cheapest sort of trash. One woman I know of paid $80 for four 'oriental' rugs that were not even worth $20. The 'Persian' who sold them was arrested, luckily, and returned the woman's money.

"The number of rackets is almost limitless. Unordered merchandise may be sent. Many charity appeals are blatant rackets. So are many so-called 'railroad' magazines and time-books, year-books, radio-logs, directories and shippers' guides.

The racketeers are sometimes so close to the borderline of honesty that it is impossible to prosecute them. They are a threat to all honest business. It is an obligation, not merely to be on guard against being victimized, but to see that others are not taken in.

"There is one safe rule," he concludes. "If everyone followed it, it would cover the whole case and scare the whole tribe of parasitic racketeers. It is Investigate First."

THOUSANDS CHEER
AMARILLO PARADE
CONFEDERATE VETS

By VESTEL LOTT
Associated Press Staff Writer
AMARILLO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Thousands of persons lined flag-bedecked streets here today and cheered the aging warriors who fought for the Old South more than 70 years ago.

The veterans of the Confederacy waved their gray campaign hats in recognition of the applause from the largest crowd ever gathered in Amarillo.

The colorful grand parade climaxed the forty-fifth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans. Weary from four days of reunion activities, the stout-hearted old soldiers still were able to give the "rebel yell" as the United States Marine band and six other bands in the procession played the Southland's beloved "Dixie."

Three score and ten years after they laid aside their sabers, six gray-clad survivors of Nathan Bedford Forrest's famous cavalry rode horseback.

National guardsmen, veterans of the world war and the Spanish-American war, Boy Scouts, sons and daughters of Confederate veterans, and members of Confederate organizations joined the parade in tribute to the aged Southern heroes. Gen. Rice A. Pierce of Union City, Tenn., retiring commander-in-chief of the U. C. V., Gen. Harry Rene Lee of Nashville, Tenn., his successor, and other officials rode in automobiles, accompanied by their official staffs.

It was estimated that from 40,000 to 70,000 persons witnessed the procession.

The parade completed, the "boys in gray" prepared to furl the "Stars and Bars" of the Confederacy until next year when the remains of Robert E. Lee's forces will gather at Shreveport, La., in forty-sixth annual reunion.

WORK ON DIRT AND DRAINAGE STRUCTURE
PROGRESSING WELL

Work on the dirt and drainage structures on Highway 22 in Navarro, Freestone and Anderson counties, the 13.4 mile gap between the end of the Eureka pavement and the all-weather roads in Navarro and Anderson counties, is progressing satisfactorily. E. W. Hable, Corsicana contractor, who has this work stated Friday morning.

That contractor estimated that 75 per cent of the work had been completed in Navarro and Anderson counties and that about 25 per cent of the job had been finished in Freestone county. As soon as the Anderson and Navarro sectors have been completed, both crews will be transferred to the Freestone county strip and the work will be rushed to completion as soon as possible.

The contract was awarded by the Texas highway commission last spring. Rains and high water kept the crews from starting work for several weeks after the contractor was ready to begin operations, but since that time good progress has been made and weather conditions have not seriously interfered with the construction.

The plant employs approximately 60 workmen on the various shifts, and draws its raw materials from wide areas around Corsicana. The Navarro Cotton Oil Company started full-time operation Thursday and uses about 40 men during the peak season. Both of the plants have recently completed their annual overhaul and repair campaigns preparatory to the rush season.

FACULTY MEDICAL BRANCH UNIVERSITY CHANGED FOR YEAR

RESIGNATION OF VARIOUS MEMBERS OF STAFF NECESSI- TATES APPOINTMENTS

GALVESTON, Sept. 9.—The faculty of the medical branch of the University of Texas here will be considerably changed when the fall term opens October 1 because of the resignation of various members of the staff, Dr. E. M. Hendrix, acting dean of the school, has announced.

Dr. W. C. Carter, appointed dean to fill the vacancy left by the death of Dr. George E. Bethel, is preparing for the new term.

Dr. Marion Fay, who served as associate professor of biological chemistry for the past ten years, has resigned to accept a professorship at the women's medical college at Philadelphia. He will be succeeded by Dr. Felix Paquin, who will serve as adjunct professor of biological chemistry.

Dr. Jarrett Williams will succeed Dr. J. Morris Horn of the department of pathology who resigned to accept a position at Fort Worth.

Dr. Tom Oliver comes to the college from Providence hospital, Waco, to succeed Dr. C. N. Hamilton in the department of pathology. Dr. Oliver is a graduate of the State Medical College of the case of 1933.

Dr. F. J. L. Basingame, adjunct professor of anatomy assigned to accept a position at the Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Dr. W. B. Sealy, instructor of anatomy, will succeed him as adjunct professor. Dr. S. L. Wiltcher has been named an instructor of anatomy. Dr. Wiltcher is a graduate of the college of the class of 1935.

Taking Work Toward Degree.
J. J. Wester, adjunct professor of physiology, is taking work toward his medical degree. He will be succeeded by F. J. Mullin from the University of Chicago.

Dr. Wendell Gingrich, associate professor of bacteriology and preventive medicine, who has been on leave for a year, will return to his position. Dr. Ludwig Kuhn served as associate professor of the department during his absence.

Miss Dora Mathis, who was assistant professor of nursing of the John Sealy College of Nursing is now professor of nursing of the college. Succeeding Miss Dorothy Rogers.

Registration for the opening of the state college will start September 27 and continue through October 1, the opening date.

Dr. Hendrix said that no official notice had been received of proposed aid to students during the forthcoming year. Last year, he said, from 10 to 15 per cent of the student body were given federal aid on a working basis, no student being permitted to earn more than $15 a month. What plans are proposed for this year, he said, he had not been advised.

Visit to Hitler.
Diplomatic circles today regarded a "good will" Sunday visit of Bernardo Di Attolico, Italian ambassador to Berlin, to Reichsfuhrer Hitler as a warning round of grapes shot across the bow of Premier Laval's anti-German front.

Started by the unheralded meeting on almost unprecedented occurrence for Sunday, British circles regarded it as an attempt to slow up French support of Britain at Geneva. It was further viewed uneasily as an understanding for "Germany's" understanding and as a tentative proposal to bury the hatchet between Italy and Germany.

Deep significance was also attached to the fact that the official reception of Attolico by Hitler was moved up three weeks ahead of schedule at the request of the Italian government, according to reports.

DALLAS YOUTH WAS SEVERELY INJURED IN HIGHWAY CRASH

MOTORCYCLE SAID TO HAVE STRUCK PARKED TRAILER SOUTH OF CORSICANA

Emmett Packwood, 20, of Dallas was brought to the P. and S. hospital here shortly before midnight Sunday in a critical condition as a result of injuries received when the motorcycle on which he and a companion were riding was reported to have crashed into a truck-trailer on Highway 75 about five miles south of here. The attending physician reported the injured youth received a punctured lung, a severe laceration on the back of his right leg and cuts and bruises about the body.

Packwood's companion, reported to be J. R. Whisnant, said to live on Noble street, Dallas, received a severely sprained leg, but returned to Dallas early today.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Yarbrough, 1431 Bowan avenue, Dallas, were following Packwood and Whisnant on another motorcycle, and reported the motor in front of the motor crashed into a parked trailer and burst into flames. Whisnant was reported to have been thrown clear of the machine. His clothing was afire, but was extinguished by striking the wet grass. Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough's motor did not figure in the crash.

The party was returning from Galveston where they and other friends had attended the speedboat races there Sunday.

Packwood was taken to a Dallas hospital in an ambulance about the middle of the morning Monday.

LOCAL RAIN

Inch in July. Gauges at Dawson and Kerens will probably not total quite that amount. The total rainfall in the county last year was 26.46. The average yearly rainfall in the county is 36.43 inches.

Streets in Corsicana were flooded by the heavy rain last night and a number of the roads in the rural districts were almost impassable Monday morning. Smaller streams in the county rose rapidly, but none of the major creeks were reported on a heavy rise Monday morning. They may overflow their banks later.

Damage to Cotton.

Some damage was done to open cotton. In some instances it was knocked out and almost buried in the ground by the downpour. The grade will be lowered on cotton that is picked before there is much sunshine. Whether or not the rain will damage cotton other than that opened or whether it will help, is problematical. If the rains continue they will probably start insects in increased numbers. If fair weather follows cotton may produce more.

No damage from wind was reported in any section of the county.

The skies were overcast all Monday morning by heavy clouds and light showers fell at intervals.

Heavy Casualties Of Hurricane Are Held Unavoidable

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A report to President Roosevelt characterizing the heavy casualty list from last week's Florida Keys hurricane as "an act of God," and not directly blamable to any human element was on its way to Washington today.

The report was released here yesterday by Aubrey Williams, assistant administrator for the federal emergency relief administration, shortly after a mass burial of 90 bodies of storm victims.

As most of the bodies were of World War veterans, full military rites were accorded them.

In his report to the president, Williams said delays in the arrival of an evacuation train at Islamorada were probably unavoidable in view of the fact that it was a holiday and unforeseen incidents occurred on the way to the keys.

Meanwhile, as funeral pyres still burned on the keys, arrangements were made to send a new squad of 200 men there to look for additional bodies which may be washed ashore as the tides change.

BEAUTY CHATS

By EDNA KENT FORBES

All requests for beauty information desired by Edna Kent Forbes column followers must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope (4x6) and two cents in stamps to cover cost of printing and handling. For the illustrated pamphlet, "BEAUTY," ten cents in stamps will fully s.s.s.e. must be enclosed. Address Miss Forbes in care of this paper.

WELL-STOCKED COSMETIC CUPBOARD

EVERYTHING YOU NEED Miss Forbes tells you everything you really need for beauty, and how to make a lot of the cosmetics yourself to save money for other uses.

What woman does not like rows of pretty bottles and jars containing things to make her better looking? A well-stocked cupboard of cosmetics is a great joy to have, and incidentally, a great inducement to keep it up to date. Beauty is a t-m-e-n-t. But what things do you need?

Two cold creams are nice to have, but one E. K. Forbes will do. If two, then a very light mineral oil one just for cleansing, and one with almond oil and lanolin for massaging and nourishing the skin. Powder you must have, of course, and it is a good thing to keep two boxes of it, one lighter in color for winter time when the skin is not sun-burned, and for evenings, when you want to whiten the skin a bit. The darker one for daytime use.

Rouge, naturally, and lip-stick. Only one of each, but they should match each other. An orange-red cheek would never do with a rose-red mouth! Eye-shadow, perhaps, I'd suggest two, one a color, whichever you like best, green, gray, blue, violet, whichever sets off your eyes to the greatest advantage. And then an iridescent paste to go over the color—gold if you are a brunette, silver if a blonde. You can get these colors with the iridescence already mixed, but I think you'll obtain a better effect if you use them separately, one over the other.

Skin tonics are nice, but don't spend money to buy them. Cold water, or witch hazel makes the skin cool and fresh after cold creaming. You may like a foundation cream. If your skin is oily, a liquid powder will stick on during the hottest evening and you can powder over it as you like. You need a hand lotion, too, for elbows and arms as well as hands.

Then the usual manicure equipment—polish, remover, cuticle mover, a tinted oil for the cuticle, a bottle of peroxide for bleaching under the nails and removing stains, and a white manicure stick as well.

Jane B.—To take the exercise of riding a bicycle, stand on one foot, balancing yourself so you will be able to use the other foot and leg just as you would if you were propelling a wheel. Use your imagination for the movements, but be sure you tense all the muscles just as you would have to do if you were peddling the machine. Give as much exercise to one side as to the other.

Additional Cotton Checks Have Arrived

The grand total for 1935 cotton benefit payments is now $252,906.61 and 5,723 producers have received checks.

Tilton stated that he heard a noise on the porch about 2 o'clock, but thought it was a dog.

LONG

into the state and exercise a power not granted by the federal constitution.

Senator Long, virtually since the inauguration of Mr. Roosevelt has been one of the president's severest critics, although he was one of the most vigorous pro-Roosevelt men at the 1932 Chicago convention. The dispute arose over the disbursement of patronage in Louisiana.

Recently, in New York, Senator Long said that he was an independent in '36 if the democrats renominated Roosevelt, the republicans choose Herbert Hoover "and if there is no liberal candidate in the field."

The coroner's inquiry concerned both the attempt on Long's life and the killing of Weiss by the bodyguards.

Frankly, the physician's mother, Mrs. C. W. Long, who was informed of her son's death, said: "When he did a thing like that, he must have known he would be killed instantly. But they (the bodyguards) didn't want to kill him the way they did. They didn't have to kill him at all."

"The only thing I am grateful for in this terrible thing is this: That the doctor who shot him was a doctor. I think God for that. My boy is dead but I would never want him to have that on his soul."

Many Bullet Holes
Dr. Thomas Bird, the coroner, said Weiss' body was found to have 30 bullet holes in the front and 29 in the back; two in the head, one penetrating the left eye and another the right eye.

Two bullets were recovered from the body.
Peritonitis is the dread of the physicians attending Long. They believe the crisis will be reached by Thursday.

It is up to the senator's constitution whether he dies or lives to build further the political empire he has created in the South. The senator has been the careful habits of the past year. He has watched his diet, reduced his weight and was in excellent physical condition.

Reports of friends that the senator was steadily gaining strength—after Lieutenant Gov. James Noe had given his blood to his chieftain—were reflected in the senator's cheerfulness displayed by Mrs. Long.

With her daughter, Rose, she called at the senator's hospital room for the second time, since she rushed to the state capital when the news of the shooting was received. She appeared cheerful as they left the hospital.

Baton Rouge, Sept. 9. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long, seriously wounded by a political foe after a session of the special legislature called to further strengthen the "dictatorship" over Louisiana, was resting satisfactorily today in a Baton Rouge hospital.

The assailant, 30-year-old Dr. C. A. Weiss, Jr., of Baton Rouge, was shot to death by Long's bodyguards immediately after the shooting at the senator's last night.

While attending physicians said "no important information" will be available for about 72 hours, the hospital reported the senator was in "moderate strength" after a blood transfusion and operation.

While the senator fought against death, the state capital was in a furor.

Police, state police, from other parts of the state, arrived in the early morning hours. Troops were mobilized in New Orleans. Trucks were ready to transport them here at a minute's notice.

operation on his wound, Long said: "Nobody is to give any statement. Physicians informed him the operation was necessary."

He told them to go ahead, grunted his teeth, waved away an anesthetic, and murmured out a prayer as the physicians cleansed the wound.

Mrs. Long arrived two hours later from New Orleans, with the three children—Rose, Russell and Palmer Reed Long—she rushed to Baton Rouge in an automobile. Composed, but with eyes showing evidence of weeping, she left the hospital room and said:

"He told me 'I may not come back, but I'll die fighting.'"

On the way to the hospital, O'Connor disclosed, Long quietly said, in the taxicab:

"I wonder why he shot me."

Weiss' relatives also pondered this question. One of the bills before the state legislature is reported, would "germicide" Judge Pavy's district.

The doctor's mother, when she learned of her son's death, said: "Oh, God, we've been opposed to Long but I didn't think he would do a thing like that."

Calm and Deliberate
A. J. Pavy of Opelousas, a brother-in-law of Weiss, told the Associated Press the senator's assailant was a "damned and deliberate man, although somewhat high strung."

"There was nothing on his part to indicate to his family he would be shot," Dr. Thomas Bird, East Baton Rouge parish coroner, and Joe W. Bates, assistant superintendent of the state bureau of identification.

Long Feared for Life
Senator Long for more than a year had feared for his life. Whenever he was in Louisiana, he was accompanied in public by a group of body guards armed with pistols and blackjacks.

Dr. Bird said two cartridges had been fired from the side and the rear; leaving the senator exposed from the front.

Last year, Senator Long openly charged there was a plot against his life and under the guise of a "state of emergency" had an open investigation.

Since that time he has taken the floor in the senate to make similar charges.

Dr. Bird said two cartridges had been fired from the side and the rear; leaving the senator exposed from the front.

The shots rang out, there was a wild stampede back in the house chamber and with it screams as men crowded against one another in an attempt to get out of the burning room.

Long had been told to expect "almost anything."

One, who declined to permit his name to be used, "I really believed a bunch was planning to storm the statehouse Saturday night."

The senator had just finished directing passage of bills in one of his amazing special legislative sessions. The shooting occurred a few minutes after the legislature adjourned at 9:20 p. m. Central Standard Time.

Staggering and bleeding at the mouth, Senator Long maintained consciousness and talked to his assistants. At Our Lady of the Lake sanitarium, to which he was taken, he was given a blood transfusion and an emergency operation was performed.

Attending physicians, however, said it would take 24 to 48 hours before they would developments. This statement was made when they issued a bulletin at 2 a. m. saying the senator's condition was "satisfactory."

The bullet entered Senator Long's body on the upper right side and punctured the colon in two places, emerging from the neck. Unless complications set in, physicians said, Long had a good chance to recover.

Dr. Weiss' body lay on the state house corridor floor for more than an hour until it could be viewed by the coroner.

Identification of Weiss was obtained by Thomas E. Bird, East Baton Rouge parish coroner, and Joe W. Bates, assistant superintendent of the state bureau of identification.

authority to stop federal school spending in Louisiana.

Senator Long a short time ago succeeded in getting control of the New Orleans city government in his long fight with Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley.

Last July martial law was dispensed with in East Baton Rouge parish. It was ordered after the year after 100 or more armed men clashed with militiamen at the Baton Rouge airport and one man was shot. The armed citizens surrounded the militia, and no action was taken against them. During legislative sessions held under martial law, the state house bristled with rifles and machine guns.

News Long Shooting Overshadows War In British Newspapers

LONDON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The shooting of Huey Long today in the press over the Italo-Ethiopian situation. Papers recalled that Great Britain was ordered to withdraw its troops from more than 100 years ago. The Baton Rouge accounts were featured with pictures of Senator Long and the Louisiana capital building under such captions as the following:

"Ducator Shot."
"Ducator Likely Recover."
"Gun Battle in Senate House of Louisiana."

The Evening Standard said in an editorial: "Although he has never indulged in anti-British utterances, Long does not command any particular sympathy in Great Britain. But Britons of all parties will unite in the wish that the assassin's bullet which struck him down. We in Great Britain are in more fortunate circumstances than America. There has not been an assassination of a political leader here in more than a hundred years."

High Handed Orders
BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9. (AP)—State highway police were ordered today by their chief, Col. E. P. Roy, to shoot down any photographer caught making pictures in or around the state capitol or hospital, where Huey Long is fighting for his life against an attempted assassination.

All persons approaching these buildings were being searched and denied entrance unless they could prove necessary business.

Baton Rouge swarmed with state policemen and civilian officers but there was no indication martial law would be declared.

Long Wonders Why
BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long, gravely wounded by an assassin, had only this remark as he was being carried to the hospital last night: "I wonder why he shot me."

Aides who assisted Long into an automobile said he made the brief comment after entering the car and bracing himself for the ride. He said he was "tired" and "wanted to rest."

Long's body was taken to the hospital in a car. He was lying on his back, with his head on a pillow. He was looking at the ceiling of the car.

PRESIDENT DECLARES BREATHING SPELL IS HERE FOR INDUSTRY

ROOSEVELT SAYS S CON-DITIONS OFFER RECOVERY AID
, QUESTIONED BY HOWARD

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today declared the New Deal's "basic program" had reached "substantial completion" and a "breathing spell" for industry is here—very decidedly so.

He asserted further "that at this moment conditions are such as to offer substantial and widespread recovery."

The president gave his views in a letter to Roy W. Howard, publisher of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, who reported fears of business men and asserted "there is need to undo the damage that has been done by misinterpretations of the New Deal."

In perhaps his most complete exposition of his administration and ideas for the future, the president said he had no intention of "letting the business man's wand," but "we do claim that we have helped to restore that public confidence which now offers so substantial a foundation for our recovery."

"I said," he wrote, "that we are all not merely seeking but getting the recovery of confidence, not merely the confidence of a small group, but that basic confidence on the part of the mass of our population, in the soundness of our economic life and in the honesty and justice of the purpose of its economic rules and methods."

Honest Men Want to Know
Howard discarded hostility from "financial racketeers, public exploiters, and the sinister forces spawned by special privilege," but he believed it "duty to clarify our purposes" to "critics who are honest and non-partisan and who are willing to discuss and to learn."

In San Francisco today, ready to shift on a world voyage, Howard said:

"Business now has the answer to the question it has been asking for months."

Speaks for Itself.
"I think the statement speaks for itself. The president states very unequivocally that the basic program of the New Deal is now complete and that the promised 'breathing spell' is here."

"It is obvious business has got to interpret this as meaning the period of experimentation is past, with the heavy burden of the past laid off the way, it can go forward."

"And it looks to me as if business can be counted upon now to go ahead and play ball with the government," Howard said.

"The 'breathing spell' of which he spoke is here, the president stated."

"It is a source of great satisfaction that this kind of conditions are such as to offer further substantial and widespread recovery."

"Unemployment is still with us, but it is steadily diminishing and our efforts to meet its problems are unflagging."

New Tax Program.
Mr. Roosevelt declared the newly enacted tax program "is based upon a broad and just social and economic purpose."

He stated it "affects only those individual people who have incomes over $50,000 a year and individual estates of decedents who leave over $40,000," with adjustment of the corporation tax "to the generally accepted fact that larger corporations enjoying the advantages of size over smaller corporations possess relatively greater capacity to pay."

To the report of Mr. Howard that business men are convinced and sincerely believe that the administration has "side-stepped broadening the tax base to the extent necessary to approximate the needs of the situation," the president replied:

"The broadening of our tax base in the past few years has been very real. What is known as consumers taxes, namely the invisible taxes paid by people in every walk of life, fall relatively much more heavily upon the poor man than on the rich man."

Consumers' Taxes.
"In 1929, consumers' taxes represented only 30 per cent of the national revenue. Today they are 60 per cent, and even with the passage of the recent tax bill the proportion of these consumers' taxes will drop only 5 per cent."

"This administration," he continued, "came into the power pledged to a very considerable legislative program. It found the condition of the country such as to require drastic and far-reaching action. Duty demanded necessity required us to move on a broad front for more than two years."

"It seemed to the congress and to me better to achieve these objectives as expeditiously as possible in order that not only business but the public generally might know those modifications in the conditions and rules of economic enterprise which were involved in our program."

"This basic program, however, has now reached substantial completion and the 'breathing spell' of which you speak is here—very decidedly so."

Does Not Claim All Credit.
"I do not claim that government alone is responsible for these definitely better circumstances. But we all know the very great effect of the saving of banks, of farms, of homes, the building of public works, the providing of relief for the destitute, and many other direct governmental acts for the betterment of conditions."

"In the large," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "the depression was the culmination of unhealthy, however innocent, arrangements in agriculture, in business and in finance."

"Our legislation was remedial, and as such, it would serve no purpose to make a doctrinaire effort to distinguish between that which was addressed to recovery and that which was addressed to reform."

"Our actions are in conformity with the basic economic purposes which were set forth three years ago."

As such, it would serve no purpose to make a doctrinaire effort to distinguish between that which was addressed to recovery and that which was addressed to reform."

CITY IMPROVEMENT PROJECTS SUBMITTED FEDERAL OFFICIALS

OVER QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS BE SPENT IF PLANS APPROVED

Proposals for repairs and improvements in the City of Corsicana involving 416.62 man-years of employment and the expenditure of a minimum of $252,432.45 in federal and local funds were submitted to the Federal Progress Administration at Palestine Friday morning by W. V. Mowlan, city engineer, after the projects had been approved by the city planning board and the committee on public works.

The tax program of which you speak is based upon a broad and just social and economic purpose. Such a purpose, it goes without saying, is not to destroy wealth, but to create broader range of opportunity, to retain the growth of unwholesome and sterile accumulations and to lay the burdens of government where they best be carried.

This law affects only those individual people who have incomes over $50,000 a year, and individual estates of decedents who leave over $40,000.

Greater Capacity to Pay.
Moreover, it gives recognition to the generally accepted fact that larger corporations enjoying the advantages of size over smaller corporations possess relatively greater capacity to pay. Consequently the act changes the rate of tax on net earnings from a flat 13.4 per cent to a differential ranging from 12.2 per cent to 15.9 per cent.

No reasonable person thinks that this is going to destroy competent corporations or impair business as a whole. Taxes on ninety-five per cent of our corporations are actually reduced by the new tax law.

A small excess profits tax is also provided as well as an intercorporate dividend tax which will have the wholesome effect of encouraging the simplification of corporate structure and useful intercorporate relationships.

Congress declined to broaden the tax base because it was recognized that the tax base had already been extended to a very substantial extent during the past five years.

Income Taxes.
I am aware of the sound arguments advanced in favor of making every citizen pay an income tax, but I think it is fair to say that England is cited as an example. But it should be recalled that despite complaints about higher taxes our interest payments on all public debts, including local government, require only 3 per cent of our national income as compared with 7 per cent in England.

The broadening of our tax base in the past few years has been very real. What is known as consumers' taxes, namely the invisible taxes paid by people in every walk of life, fall relatively much more heavily upon the poor man than on the rich man.

In 1929, consumers' taxes represented only 30 per cent of the national revenue. Today they are 60 per cent and even with the passage of the recent tax bill the proportion of these consumers' taxes will drop only 5 per cent.
